MISCELLANEOUS DISCUSSION

Recycling. Ms. Mia Cobb and Ms. Faith Dawson, members of the Norman North High School Environmental Club, said students in the club pick up recycling every week and set it at the curb but it is not being picked up. They asked for clarification of when the pickup is for Norman North. Ms. Cobb asked how they could get more polycarts.

Mayor Clark said it is every other week for residential customers which should include the schools.

Mr. Ken Komiske, Director of Utilities, said he would be glad to provide more recycling polycarts to the school. He said they could notify him or the Sanitation Department to make a request.

Mayor Clark said she would be glad to forward the request and appreciated their efforts.

Councilmember Wilson thanked the girls for coming to the meeting and staying throughout. She said she was thrilled that there is an Environmental Club. She said tonight Council voted to protect their environment and not increase their density.

Councilmember Wilson said part of saving the environment is "Reduce, Reuse, Recycle." She said Reduce is the most important word because people will not always have a place to drop off their recycling. She said maybe an initiative could be started at the high schools because if more young people are involved, the bigger the impact. She said Habitat for Humanity has some great items that have been repurposed and can be reused.

Councilmember Holman said the other word he would add is "Refuse" meaning that when a server at a restaurant offers you something you do not need, like a straw or a plastic bag, you can refuse it.

Councilmember Scott thanked them for coming tonight and for what they are doing.

Recent Murder of Young Man. Mr. Evan Dunn, 1400 Garfield Avenue, referenced the recent death of a 20-year-old man who had money in his pocket and went to meet someone and was shot and killed for $100 by two 19 year olds. He said three families are ruined because of this. He said he wants to know why this does not affect us more. He said do we feel like we cannot do anything so we do nothing?

Mayor Clark said she had been following the story as well and it is nice to know that other humans are as torn apart about these young lives lost as she is.

Councilmember Hall thanked Mr. Dunn for taking a moment to recognize that a tragedy did occur in our city. She said this is personal with her because the victim was Walker Daniel Pitchlynn and she remembers the day this young man came into the Pitchlynn home. She said he was loved by his birth family who could not care for him and lovingly allowed the Pitchlynn family to take Walker into their home. She said he had a beautiful life and was loved by all. She said she knows the family really appreciates the outpouring of caring people.

Councilmember Holman sent his thoughts to the Pitchlynn family for this loss. He said he cannot imagine what they are going through.

Councilmember Scott thanked Mr. Dunn for his lovely song in tribute.

Black History Month. Councilmember Bierman said this is the end of the month for Black History Month, the upcoming start of Women's History Month and the 100th Anniversary of the year the 19th Amendment was ratified. She said although the 19th Amendment barred states from denying voting rights based on gender, racism was rampant during the suffrage movement. She said women of color as well as their male counterparts continued to be disenfranchised until native people were granted citizenship in 1924 and in 1965 with the passage of the Voting Rights Act. She said next month she plans on posting on her Facebook Page information about the contributions from the lesser known women suffragettes of color.

*

NORMAN FORWARD Presentation. Councilmember Petrone said it is obvious after tonight's NORMAN FORWARD presentation, that Council has a lot of work ahead of them. She said the Municipal Complex Project, Public Safety projects, and infrastructure projects are underfunded. She said Council will be working on prioritizing projects to hold true to what Council said they would do for the voters as well as keep public health and safety at the forefront.

*

Please Vote. Councilmember Hall said she was very happy to see how many people chose to participate in the election on February 11th. She said when you look at the big picture and you combine Ward 2, 4, and 6, out of 28,329 registered voters, 3,428 chose to participate which is about 12%. She said municipal elections are notorious for having the lowest voter turnout when it is where you can make your vote count the most. She wondered how we can change this and encourage people to use their voice.

Councilmember Wilson said the one of the best ways a person can affect your community and your environment is to vote.

Councilmember Holman said when he ran for Ward 7 seat the first time, he lost by 21 votes and when he ran the second time, he won by 28 votes. He said he represents 15,000 people and was elected by a few people and agreed it is a real mystery.

Councilmember Scott said politics turn people off because they do not feel they are being heard or do not have a voice which creates voter apathy. She has been knocking on doors this week asking people to vote. She said the people who talk to her tell her there are too many elections and possibly the City should consolidate the issues or downsize. She said when she ran for City Council, there was a lot of interest and momentum. She won the Ward 8 race by 58% and there was only 14% turnout at that election.

*

First Responders. Councilmember Scanlon said due to our first responders, recently at least three tragedies were averted. He said he is wearing a first responder jacket tonight that he purchased to show appreciation.

*

Homelessness. Councilmember Scanlon said the Warming Shelter's last day is Sunday, March 1st. He said almost 200 homeless people stayed at the shelter with over half of them new to the system and these people were able to find out what services the City offered. He said there is a new video that was done with Michelle Evans, Homeless Coordinator, interviewing some of the homeless people. He said these people explained how they got there and what their plans were as well as voicing appreciation for what the City had done to help.

Councilmember Scott said she was at Sutton Wilderness today and saw a small homeless encampment and there was a sign that said "72 Hours to Vacate" from the City. She said she has explicit feelings about homelessness because how it has affected her own family and also how she feels about public space. She said she believes that a person has a right to occupy open space. She said sometimes these laws violate a person's right to occupy the space. She said there are a lot of empty apartments and housing in Norman and there should be enough shelter to handle the homeless.
